Council Connection

Recent Council actions from July 21 meeting:

- Authorized the removal of floating bogs from Snail Lake as recommended by the Snail Lake Improvement District board. Due to the record high water levels this summer, Snail Lake has had many floating bogs of various sizes. These bogs have blown around the lake, causing property damage to docks and boats - and, at times, closing the public beach and boat launch. The Snail Lake Improvement District Board, Ramsey County Parks and the City determined that the best way to minimize the impact of these bogs was to remove them from the lake. The Council action will allow the removal of the bogs and charge the costs to the Snail Lake Improvement District.

City Establishes Rail Quiet Zones

24-hour quiet zones begin August 6 at Lexington and Victoria

Quiet zones will go into effect at the Lexington Avenue and Victoria Street rail crossing beginning Wednesday, August 6. This is the first date after the 21-day waiting period following final notification of the City's intent to establish quiet zones was sent to Canadian Pacific Rail. The City established 24-hour quiet zones at these crossings. While train operators can still choose to sound their horns if they believe there is a dangerous situation, it will dramatically reduce the noise at these at-grade crossings.
